DURHAM COUNTY LIBRARY

*W*_E LEARN from the past, live in the present, look to the future. The first great task before us is to help win the war. In our studies and activities we are preparing ourselves for our share of this task.

*O*_{UR} SECOND task will be to help make a permanent peace. We must be wholehearted Americans, doing all we can, willing to sacrifice whenever necessary. We must have tolerance and understanding to help make this one a lasting peace—for all people.

*T*_{HE} CLASS of 1944 has studied and worked that it may be able to take its place in the future with knowledge and confidence. The following pages show some of the services and activities in which we have engaged, with the help and guidance of all our teachers. In the future, your MESSENGER staff hopes, these pages will revive for you pleasant memories of your days at Durham Hi.

Senior Class

During the past year, all seniors have been greatly concerned with the future. The boys, many already in the service, or planning to go soon, have put forth their greatest efforts to study and take courses that will benefit them in years to come. Senior girls have also studied harder to prepare themselves for the years ahead. With this in mind, many juniors have taken on a heavier schedule so as to graduate with the senior class or in summer school. In this way, many of the boys will be able to attend college for a year or two before entering the Armed Forces.

Contests have been held among the senior home rooms to promote the sale of stamps and bonds for the Fourth War Loan Drive.

As the President, Tommy Upchurch, was graduated in January, Joe Allen, Vice-President, took over his duties as President. Assisting him were Aileen Earp, Secretary, and Taylor Rigsbee, Treasurer.

The Junior Class

Under the capable leadership of Betsy Rogers, President, Mrs. Martha Patrick, and Mr. Glenn Bunting, advisers, the Junior Class has had a very successful year.

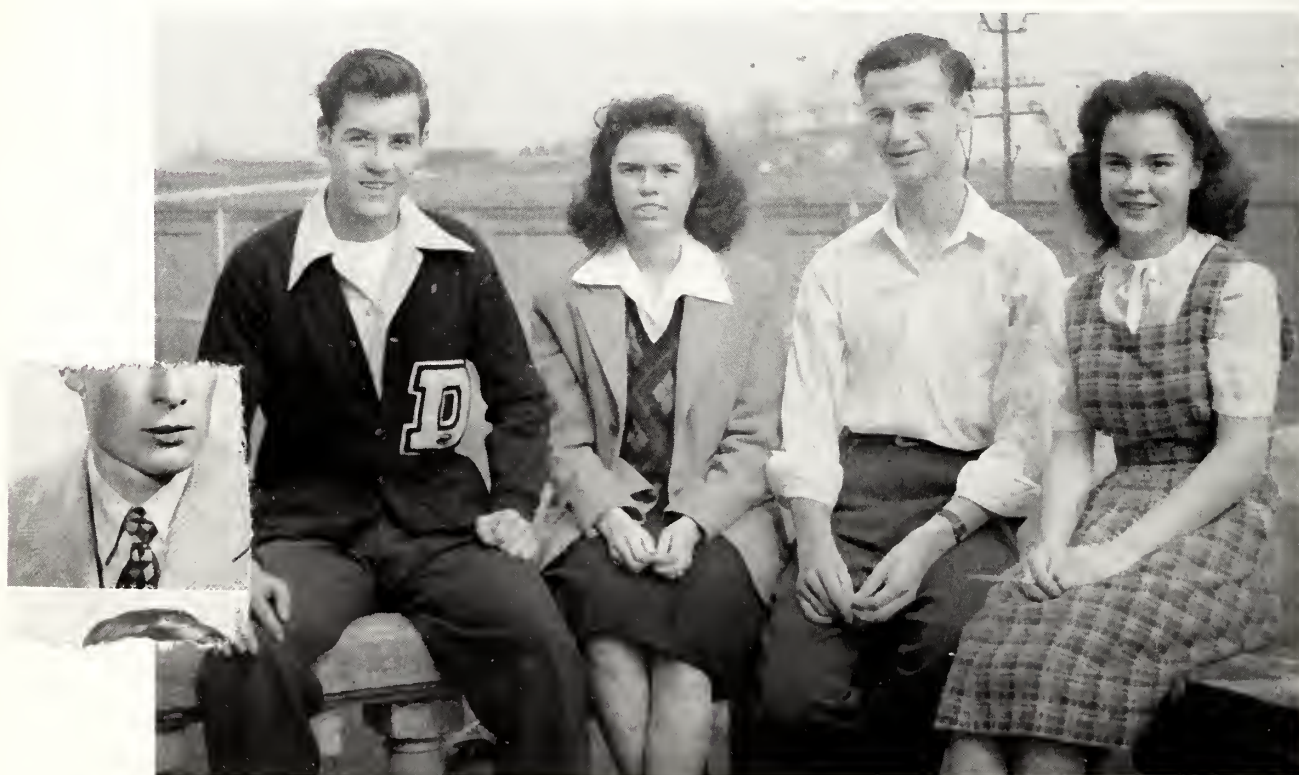

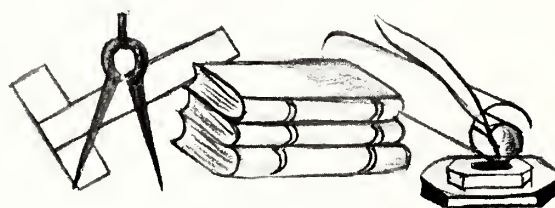

The junior home rooms helped a great deal in boosting the sale of war bonds by staging contests.

Many members of the class were promoted to senior home rooms so as to speed up their courses and graduate earlier. This enabled some students to attend college a year or so before entering the armed services.

Their main project of the year was the presentation of the romantic comedy, Don't Darken My Door, with Estelle Rose and Earl Peed taking the leading parts. The play, presented on March 31, was termed a big success. The purpose of the play was to raise money for the Junior-Senior Social.

The social, held on May 5, ended an outstanding year for the class of '45.

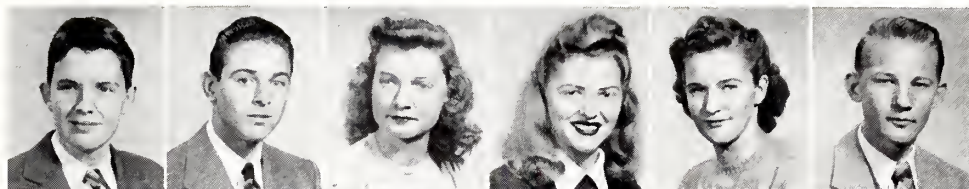

Betsy was assisted in her duties by Addison Trice, Vice-President, Nancy Parks, Secretary, and Eric O'Briant, Treasurer.

The Sophomore Class

Bobby Ross, Treasurer; Jimmy Baynes, Secretary; Leroy Carlton, President; Page Harris, Vice-President.

The Sophomore Class, even though it was our youngest class, proved that its students were most interested in applying themselves to their studies by the high percentage on the honor rolls.

The class also devoted itself toward helping in the war effort. At the first meeting, under the leadership of the President, Leroy Carlton, a committee was chosen to decide upon some definite goal for the class in regard to the selling and buying of bonds. A picture concerning heredity was also shown at the meeting, and this proved very educational.

The athletic program was participated in by perhaps the largest number of sophomores in the history of Durham High. The President, Leroy Carlton, was one of the highest scorers on the football team. He was also noted for his punting. Leroy's tall figure on the basketball court, too, will long be remembered.

Alvitt Loftis, another sophomore, kept the Loftis family name still in the limelight in football as well as in basketball.

These two leaders, however, were not the only athletic-minded boys, for Bobby Ross, Secretary of the class, Jimmy Baynes, Treasurer, Tony Reed, Billy Stokes, Frank Penny, R. L. McDonald, Page Harris, and many others turned the eyes of Durham High toward a vision of a bright future for the class of 1946.

As the "baby class" left to return as juniors, it could never be said that the versatile students lived a dull sophomore year. May their ambitious and industrious spirits remain with them throughout the years.

It is an accepted fact that Coöps, in competitions of any kind, will surpass one's highest expectations. Each year they outdo previous records in the sale of athletic tickets and in contributions to the Community Fund, Red Cross and Salvation Army. Nor are they content with this! This year the boys bought a mirror for their home room; sent books, flowers, and fruit to its sick members; bought war stamps and bonds; and presented gifts to its Gold Star mothers. At Christmas they sent 25 boxes of fruit cakes, candy and nuts to Alumni of '43 who were in the armed forces. Of the 225 Coöp Alumni in the armed service, approximately 175 visited the class this year.

The chicken supper in November at the Forest Hills Club House and the Christmas party held in room 217 were both gala affairs. In March a skit, "The Name Is Johnston" was presented for the Coöps' mothers. In May a hayride was given for class members and their dates and the year came to a successful termination at the annual dinner party for Coöp Seniors given by their adviser, Miss Maude Rogers.

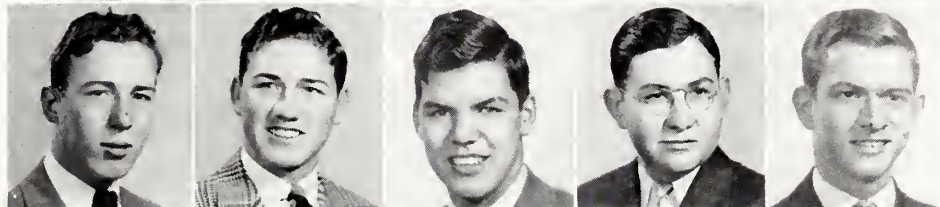

Through her love and understanding Miss Maude taught her boys to be outstanding leaders and good citizens of the present and future.

Student Council

OFFICERS: Joe Biggs, President; Emily Boyd, Vice-President; Betty Ann Williams, Secretary; Harold Hayes, Treasurer.

Adviser: C. E. COOKE

The Student Council was composed of representatives from the 27 home rooms, class officers, and officers of the student body.

At the monthly meetings the problems of the school were discussed and the decisions carried back to each home room by their respective representatives, where votes were cast pro or con on the matter in question. Thus, not unlike the national government, the students shared in making the rules of the school.

This year under the capable leadership of Joe Biggs, President; Emily Boyd, Vice-President; Betty Ann Williams, Secretary; and Harold Hayes, Treasurer; the Student Council aimed at a high goal—the selling of $50,000 in War Bonds and Stamps in the school.

As usual the Council again sponsored the Hall Patrol whose duty it was to keep lunch lines and halls in order. Improvement of the grounds was stressed throughout the year and everyone was urged to cooperate by putting all trash in disposal cans which had been placed around the building.

Dances sponsored by the Council were bang-up successes, especially the Football Dance, held at the close of the season.

To help students appreciate the blessings of self government, and by actual participation to teach them the responsibilities and duties of citizens in a democracy, were the aims of the Student Council.

Girls' Athletic Association

Adviser:

MISS NELL LEITNER

"All work and no play makes Jill a dull girl" well might be the slogan for the Girls' Athletic Association, which is composed of all those girls having earned at least seventy-five points according to the state-adopted point system. Better known as the G. A. A., the local group is a part of the state Girls' Physical Education Association, and through keeping the health rules, attending practices, and participating in the various tournaments its members learn to know the true meaning of sportsmanship and comradeship.

Paddle Tennis, Softball, and Tennis

There's more to physical education than getting one's hair wet or skinning a knee. It promotes self-reliance, sportsmanship, and a clearer understanding of one's fellow classmates. Based on these characteristics, the G. A. A. is a friendly organization of girls who have a mutual love of sports.

The Messenger Staff

OFFICERS: Co-Business Managers, Peggy Allen, Betty Ann Williams, Editor-in-Chief, David Swearingen.

Advisers: MARGARET S. RICHARDSON, Literary; C. E. COOKE, Business; MARY L. MASON, Art; LOUISE HORNER, Typing.

Although this MESSENGER is bound by a single cover, there are included several volumes which we of the MESSENGER Staff sincerely hope that you will like.

We have endeavored this year to express through our theme the importance of present-day high school routine in the post-war effort. We hope to bring about a better appreciation of the school seal and what it means. Each object on the seal represents some definite part of our school life and has not been placed there merely for decoration.

The books represent our studies; the tools, the industrial classes; the gavel, the high standard Durham High School has attained in student government; the scroll, a scroll of honor on which the names of outstanding members of a class are inscribed.

We are to be the nation's future leaders. There is no better time to start planning than now.

This book that you now hold in your hands is a record and a history of your high school life as well as that of all your classmates. You can keep and cherish it forever.

The Hi-Rocket Staff

Adviser: MARGUERITE M. HERR

The Hi-Rocket again accepted the challenge of United States government officials to help carry vital information or necessary appeals on the war effort to the high school students here. This service was requested of all school newspapers for the duration as the contribution of the school press to the national defense program.

Anxious to serve effectively, the staff planned each issue with adequate space for timely news, features, and editorial comment. The news releases from the government were edited for this school; drives and campaigns were explained, and their programs and results covered. Suggestions from the Schools-at-War program were used to illustrate or explain graphically news of importance or general interest (to the school community).

The local war efforts of the school as a whole, and of students and faculty, working individually or in groups, were featured and the results tabulated as evidence of achievement in Durham High. The alumni page, dedicated to those who have achieved distinction, carried in every issue the news of the whereabouts and activities of the graduates in service and of those in training for war work.

The Hi-Rocket, like the school it represents, had to make adjustments due to the war conditions. The scarcity of materials and the increased cost of publication curtailed some plans. When Uncle Sam called the editor-in-chief and the business manager, Charles Sydnor and Walton Parker of the Hi-Rocket Staff, Ruth Evans and Martha Fowler as co-editors and Ed Upchurch as business manager assumed their responsibilities.

In spite of handicaps, the newspaper has appeared twelve times on schedule and the standards set up for high school journalists have been uniformly kept by the whole staff.

The Hi-Rocket had two articles: a poem by Ruth Evans and an editorial on the tuberculosis campaign by Charles Sydnor, printed in the February issue of the School Press Review, official organ of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. These were selected as outstanding contributions from the many high school newspapers examined, as outstanding and timely journalistic work.

Director
ROBERT G. SIMMONS

The Durham High Band has been known in the past as a Marching Band but this year it has taken steps forward in becoming a first-class concert band. More concerts were played this year than in the last four years combined. The Band played for five grammar schools, the three junior high schools, and two concerts for the High School. A formal evening concert was given at Erwin Auditorium in April. In May, each Sunday afternoon the Band played a concert in the Chesterfield Park.

Nineteen forty-four marked the beginning of a fine concert band in Durham High and the Band looked forward to even greater musical experiences.

Girls' Chorus

Director: W. P. TWADDELL

Again this year the halls of D. H. S. rang out with "Fessor's" chorus. Instead of hearing deep bass and high tenor voices, we only heard feminine ones. This was due to the war which eliminated most of the boys, but "Fessor" and his girls valiantly carried on.

The girls' first appearance was before the Rotary Club. At another request by the Rotary Club, the chorus went a second time to sing for them. At that time a new song, written by one of our own sophomores, Katherine Bobbitt, was introduced. The song entitled, "I Found a Rose," was sung by Dorothy Shepherd. Emily Boyd also rendered a popular solo, "My Heart Tells Me."

"Fessor" devoted his time to teaching his students the fundamentals of music, mainly sight reading. This was an advantage for the future as well as the present.

War conditions have made traveling for the chorus impossible, but they have done their best to give the school a good name in the music world.

The Carmichael Literary Society, which met bimonthly, had very appropriately set as its aim the general promotion of educational as well as literary interests among its members.

Under the capable leadership of President Eugene Evans and faculty adviser, Glenn Bunting, the society attained new heights. The foremost achievement of the first semester was the drafting and adoption of a constitution. During the second term, emphasis was placed upon educational development. In accordance with this theory, many helpful programs such as educational movies and debates on current affairs were presented under supervision of our Vice-Presidents, Tommy Upchurch and Stewart Henderson, who served as program chairmen.

Adviser:

VIRGINIA L. HOBGOOD

Holding its meeting semi-monthly, the Athena Literary Society, under the capable leadership of Miss Virginia Hobgood, emphasized programs developing the numerous talents of its members. Programs of interesting and varied subjects were carefully planned for the benefit of each member.

Highlights in social activities were an initiation party held at Durham High, and a delightful Christmas party given at the last meeting before the Christmas holidays.

Carr Literary Society

Adviser:

E. C. HESTER

Under the direction of a new adviser, Mr. E. C. Hester, the Carr Literary Society made an effort to develop its members in the art of public speaking. There were, during the year, many constructive debates and well-prepared speeches delivered by members of the society. Again this year three keys were presented to the most valuable members of the society. The main social event of the year was the annual banquet held in the school cafeteria.

Blackwell Literary Society

Adviser: C. E. MEYER

The members of the Blackwell Literary Society have completed another successful year under the leadership of Mr. C. E. Meyer, adviser.

As usual, the initiation went off with a bang! The new fellows didn't like the slight over-going, but there is always next year. After a little fun, the new and old members settled down for a "Pepsi and hot dog."

Each year, there is given to the most outstanding member an honor. After he is voted by the club, his name is engraved on the Blackwell Memorial Plaque.

Brogden Literary Society

OFFICERS: M. V. Rigsbee, R. Evans, N. Parks, V. Cooke, D. Spoon, B. Rogers, A. Wilson, M. Fowler, H. Pendergraft.

Adviser: LOUISE T. WATKINS

MOTTO: "The Truth Shall Make You Free"

The Lila Markham Brogden Literary Society was organized in 1926. It was named in honor of Mrs. Lila Markham Brogden, a former teacher of Latin in Durham High and also a leader in Durham's social and civic life.

Since its organization the society has had a large membership and many of Durham High's most outstanding girls have been on its roll. Through varied, interesting, and well-planned programs and student participation on these programs the society has sought the development of its members.

Each year a medal is given to the senior girl who has done the best all-round work during her membership in the club. This encourages growth and development of its members in the aims and ideals of a literary society.

Spencer Literary Society

Adviser: PAULINE S. SCHRODER

The oldest and one of the largest girls' societies, the Cornelia Spencer began its school year with a delightful social in the cafeteria, at which time the new members were initiated.

Programs, based on the theme of achieving higher standards in literature, culture, and social activities, and using the varied talent of the group, were given throughout the year.

It has become almost a tradition that Mrs.

Owen Herring be an annual speaker, and this year she again captured the hearts of the girls by an address to the society during the spring semester.

Following the custom of former years, the society awarded a medal to the girl who had contributed most to the society. Officers were elected for next year, and a social was held as a concluding feature of the year's work.

Southgate Literary Society

Adviser: BELLE HAMPTON

Since its organization, the Southgate Literary Society, under the leadership of Miss Belle Hampton, has had many interesting and delightful programs. The members of this society were in it not merely for pastime, but were eager that the experience gained in parliamentary procedure, public speaking, and social activities, might profit them in the future. Ever mindful of their motto, "He who accomplishes nothing, fails," the girls have planned programs along various lines:

short plays, quiz programs, readings, and the study of the lives of famous people.

The society not only held regular business meetings at school, but a social was held, at which time the new members were initiated.

The officers of the society for the school year 1943-44 were as follows: President, Elizabeth Williams; Vice-President, Betty Ann Williams; Secretary, Pauline Ligon; Treasurer, Mary Frances Brown; Chaplain, Peggy Allen.

First row: P. Ligon, C. Donahoe, B. Williams, P. Allen, M. F. Brown. Second row: A. Coletta, M. Lewis, E. Williams, A. L. Brame, Miss Hampton.

Adviser: WYOLINE HANSON

Girls of the Annie E. Tillett Literary Society have had but one purpose in mind this year; to develop themselves in poise and public speaking. To accomplish this they have participated in various programs including singing, speaking, and contests. Under the leadership of Miss Wyoline Hanson, the society has made great advances toward a larger and better organization.

Among the more important social functions of the club was a dinner at Harvey's cafeteria for the initiation of the new members. This was followed by a theatre party. Another social was held in the early spring to climax the year's work.

"Practice makes perfect" seemed to be the idea instilled in the minds of all the members of the society. By participating in the programs, they learned to deliver clear, intelligent, and interesting talks before an audience.

In former years the contribution of this society to the school has been the presentation of a book to the school library.

Adviser: MARGUERITE M. HERR

The Page Literary Society had as its motto the aim of its patron saint, Walter Hines Page, "Let knowledge grow; let life be enriched," when he championed the cause of public education in this, his native state, in the days of Governor Aycock.

The programs were planned by the committees with this in mind. They were presented to instruct, inspire, and give practical experience in various types of public speaking.

Each year the new members are inducted into the society by the newly elected officers with an appropriate and impressive ceremony.

The annual social gathering, a banquet, was given as a climax to the year's work. It was planned and carried through by the boys. The program included music and toasts by the boys, and an address by a guest speaker of prominence.

As an incentive to growth, each year the society gives to its most outstanding senior the honor of having his name inscribed on the Page cup. Last year, Bill Griffin, Vice-President, who designed the school flag, was honored.

Adviser:
LOUISE HORNER

The O. Henry Literary Society, organized by Mrs. Aura Holton Goddard in 1926, is one of the most active societies in the school. This year has been one of the most successful in the history of the organization. Among the achievements were presenting a Christmas box to a needy family, the Mother-Daughter Banquet, and awarding a medal to the outstanding senior of the club.

Bonath Bible Club

Adviser: FRANCES C. QUERY

This year the foremost purpose of the members of the Bonath Bible Club was to understand better their own beliefs and those of other religious groups.

At one outstanding meeting this year the members were so fortunate as to have Aaron Shapiro, the Jewish Rabbi, to speak to them concerning the Jewish beliefs. The organization also had Reverend Winston Pierce, President of the Durham Council of Churches, and Father O'Briant of the Catholic sect. A panel discussion on the religious situations of Germany, Russia, and Japan was planned by the students. They also engaged a speaker for the purpose of explaining the contributions of Negroes to the culture of our own ideals of America.

Bonath, which means "character building," has proved a very appropriate name for the club. Under the leadership of Miss Frances Query, adviser to the club, the members have gained much helpful training in their study of Christianity outside the regular classroom activities.

Adviser: R. S. ALFREY

This past year the Aviation Club under the capable leadership of the officers named below progressed more than any year before. Mr. Alfrey, an experienced pilot, gave his whole-hearted support as adviser.

In the past years the members of the Aviation Club have been having guest speakers and general discussions in aviation. This year they had not only discussions and guest speakers, but also secured an airplane trainer named the Penguin. This will make the same maneuvers as a real airplane except for the more difficult maneuvers such as the take-offs and landings. This trainer has helped the boys who were going into the Army or Navy Air Corps a great deal by teaching them the fundamental operations of the controls on such maneuvers, and banking and taking off. The club had many contests on the identification of airplanes.

This year ended in a most enjoyable hay-ride to Camp Sacarusa. The eats and drinks were good, especially after such a long ride. All boys brought dates, and the dates in turn brought the eats, so in all the year was ended and counted a success.

Under the intelligent guidance of Miss Martha Clark, the Camera Club has accomplished a great deal in the field of photography this year. Its members have become acquainted with men skilled in photography, and have learned the correct usage of the camera, and the different methods of processing their own films. At each meeting of the club, the members have learned something new about this phase of art.

Current Events Club

Adviser: BELLE C. GHOLSON

The purpose of the Current Events Club is to encourage interest in current affairs—local, state, national, and world. To promote free discussion of problems—social, economic, and political; and to develop an all-round citizen. Social efficiency is the accepted “capsule” of purpose of the club, and “We” the motto.

At roll call each member responds with a brief current event. The main part of the program consists of discussions of current news, with newspapers, magazines, radio reports, pamphlets, and all other available sources of news serving as the basis.

Because of the late organization of clubs this year all officers retained their positions except the President, William McDonald, who graduated at mid-term. Virginus Lougee was elected to fill the vacancy. The other officers were: Vice-President, Bobby Huckabee; Secretary, Jimmy Cobb; Treasurer, Ed Levy; Chaplain, William Chappell; Sergeant-at-Arms, Whit Cobb.

This is the only boys club in the school directed by a woman—“Ma” Gholson. She explains such exclusive membership thus: “It’s no place for a lady.”

Adviser: DOROTHY E. WILSON

To increase the knowledge of science; to learn to perfect skills in science; to understand the importance of science in men's lives: these have been the aims of the Nature Study Club. To accomplish these, its varied programs were planned to show the members a few glimpses of the many fields of science which may be entered.

Lantern slides, made from pictures which Dr. H. L. Blomquist took on his recent trip to Puerto Rico, were shown at one of the meetings. These slides acquainted the students with the island. They showed the plants and trees, and the inhabitants; the clothes they wear, the houses they live in, and the schools to which they go.

One of the most interesting and unusual programs of the year was a demonstration of hypnotism presented by Professor J. B. Rhine. After talking to the group about hypnotism, he asked for volunteers to be hypnotized. Several students responded, and Dr. Rhine had them do a number of amusing things.

The social event of the year, the traditional picnic, gave members some fun along with their learning.

French Club

Adviser: MARTHA W. PATRICK

La plupart des humains pensent que le français est une langue morte depuis la France a su la défaite dans cette guerre. Mais la langue de la France ne mourra jamais et c'était la visée du Cercle Français montrer que la langue français n'est pas morte, mais qu'il est toujours une belle langue qu'il est très populaire.

Les élèves du Cercle Français ont appris qu'après la guerre les humains du monde saura chaque autre mieux et pour savoir le pays bien, il faut qu'on sache la langue de ce pays. Cette an, le Cercle Français a fait la langue de la France vie en conduisant les programmes en français; en chantant les chansons en français, comprenant "La Marseillais," l'antienne nationale de la France: et en donnant un spectacle en français.

Le Cercle Français est pour les élèves qu'ont fait un grade de "A" pendant l'étude de la langue. Après le nôel, les élèves de la première classe de français ont invité joindre le cercle. Il était nécessaire que ces élèves fassent un grade de "A" aussi pour le premier terme pour être éligible.

The most unique feature of the Commercial Department is the "Placement Bureau" which, without quarters or equipment (except the unselfish interest of the commercial teachers), functions efficiently in guidance and placement of graduates. There is an ever increasing demand for our graduates in the business offices in the city and in Government work.

Post War Planning:

1. Enlarge the Commercial Department so that every student of Durham High School may have the privilege of instruction in typewriting.

2. Secure quarters and equipment for a real "Placement Bureau."

Phy-Chem Club

Adviser: B. G. STEWART

World developments, increased use of science and a broad outlook for the future spurred the interest of the Phy-Chem members this year.

Under the capable leadership of Mr. B. G. Stewart, the enthusiastic members worked hard on the study of sound, light, electricity, and the proof of several laws pertaining to these subjects.

During the year several outside speakers who are connected with science were invited as guest speakers to some of the meetings. Dr. Blomquist of Duke University in a joint meeting of the Nature Study and Phy-Chem Clubs showed colored slides of Puerto Rico and discussed the characteristics of the people and terrain of those islands. Another interesting joint meeting had as its guest Dr.

Rhine also of Duke University who gave the members a new experience—how it feels to be hypnotized.

Whether the members enter the armed services, attend college or go into business immediately, their interest in scientific developments will continue because of their connection with the Phy-Chem Club.

Social activities had their prominence during the winter and spring. There were two very enjoyable, fun-filled chicken fries held at Mr. Stewart's home and at the Bird Sanctuary.

Mummers Dramatics Club

OFFICERS: E. Allen, N. Warren, L. Walton, E. Boyd, V. Cooke.

Under the direction of their new adviser, Miss Inez Page, the Mummers Dramatics Club completed another successful year.

Although the fundamentals of acting were stressed specifically, much time was also devoted to all other phases of dramatics. Programs which for the most part displayed individual talents, included original comedies, impromptu skits, play rehearsals, and general instructions in the methods of producing plays.

The most outstanding project of the club was the production of three one-act plays, "Pledge Allegiance," "The White Phantom," and "These Husbands of Ours." The presentation of these plays tended not only to produce more skillful actors but also to give valuable experience to those interested in stagework and make-up.

Instead of presenting two medals for the club's most outstanding senior boy and girl, as had been the custom in previous years, the Mummers this year gave only one medal to the most outstanding senior of the club.

It is hoped that participation in the Mummers would be a great asset to those who planned to continue in dramatics as a sideline or a career.

Mimics Dramatics Club

OFFICERS: P. Stallings, Vice-President; C. Vinson, Secretary and Treasurer; F. Mellon, Chaplain; M. Kinton, President; M. R. Myers, Secretary and Treasurer; S. Ward, Chaplain.

Adviser:
NATALIE GREEN

Because of the large membership of this club at the beginning of the year, two clubs were formed with the one led by Mrs. Garland Green retaining the original name. One of the services undertaken by this club was the collection of magazines for the reading pleasure of one of its members, J. T. Garrett, who was in the hospital.

Sugar 'n' Spice, a delightful comedy, was presented by the club with the following members participating: Martha Rose Myers, J. T. Garrett, and Betty Jane Owen.

Thespian Dramatics Club

Adviser:

FRANCES BRIGGS

OFFICERS: Tony Reed, President; Addison Trice, Vice-President; Anne Garrett, Secretary; Katherine Bobbitt, Treasurer.

A newly organized dramatics club, the Thespians, took their name from the Greek word meaning "actor." Under the leadership of their adviser, Miss Frances Briggs, the club met twice a month, its primary aim being to acquaint each member with the art of acting. Charades, pantomime, and short skits were used to accomplish this aim. To climax a successful year the club presented a one act play. The members felt that the dramatic experience gained in the Thespian would bring forth in the future a more self-assured, poised and successful individual.

Library Club

Adviser: FLORINE L. LEWTER

The focus of the Library Club is books. From books the club has learned how our democratic form of government came into being, and on books our citizens of tomorrow will lay the foundation for the future.

The membership of the Library Club consists of students who volunteered their services to the library either because they were interested in Library Science as a career, or in the club as an extra curricular activity, or they liked to work with books.

The work of the members consisted of circulation, checking attendance, checking mail, typing, making over-due notices, assisting in book selection and in reference work, learning to use, and helping others use, library facilities. These students were indeed building for the future in helping to make available to the student body the books and the other materials in the library.

The future of our nation must necessarily be linked more closely with that of other nations. Through books in our library our students became better acquainted with the boys and girls of other countries and their problems—knowledge brings understanding and understanding is the basis for friendship. Nations that are friendly will not fight, thus through understanding we have traveled a long way toward establishing permanent peace.

Through books and through the reading and study of books, our boys and girls will become better prepared to take their places as future citizens.

Since serving on the home front is important to our soldiers who are fighting on the battle front, we can say that the Library Club members were contributing a necessary part in our battle for victory, and our hope for future peace.

Spanish Club

Adviser: CAROLYN LATTY MANN

EL CLUB ESPAÑOL

El Club Español was organized in 1941, when Spanish was first taught. The qualifications for membership are that the student must be taking this language and also have a special interest in it. We have as the objective of our club to study the language and customs of our Southern neighbors in order to be better citizens and better neighbors in the present and post-war world.

The highlight of the social calendar was the banquet held in the spring.

EL CLUB ESPAÑOL

El Club Español se organizó en el año 1941 cuando el español comenzó a enseñarse en nuestra escuela. Para ser miembros hay que ser estudiantes de la lengua española y tener mucho interés en la lengua y los países que hablan español. Los objetos del Club es estudiar la lengua y los costumbres de nuestros vecinos del sur para hacernos mejores ciudadanos y vecinos en el mundo hoy y en el mundo después de la guerra.

El evento de nuestro calendario social era el banquete en la primavera.

Adviser: MARY E. SUITT

"Experience is the best teacher." So believed the new director of The Playmakers dramatic club, Miss Suitt.

The club, named for the famous Playmakers of the University of North Carolina, enabled each of its members to develop in the field of dramatics in which he was most interested, by experimenting with several plays throughout the year. While some members were chiefly interested in acting, others turned to makeup, directing and backstage work, which are also important phases of dramatics.

"Polly, Put the Kettle On," the first play presented by the club for the public, was a bright modern comedy. Most of the laughs were provided by Polly Lincoln Washington, an eighteen-year-old colored maid with a decided fear of ghosts. Told that the ghost of the former owner of the house appeared when water boiled, Polly was stricken with fear when commanded to "put the kettle on and we'll all have tea!" The leading role was portrayed by Lois Brantley who was supported by an excellent cast.

The club attended performances of dramatic groups at Chapel Hill and Duke University. Such activities as these were of immeasurable aid to each member who cared to continue with his dramatic work upon graduating.

Ellen H. Richards Club

OFFICERS: President, Mary Lee Griffin; Vice-President, Hilda Rose Mitchell; Secretary, Gloria Grantham, Dot Howerton; Treasurer, Mary Elizabeth Vosburg, Jewel Morgan.

OFFICERS: E. Vosburgh, M. L. Griffin, R. Mitchell.

Adviser:

FRANCES E. WOOLWORTH

To promote growth by developing poise, initiative, self-confidence, leadership qualities, spirit of co-operation, and sense of responsibility is the primary aim of the Ellen H. Richards Club. Programs this year were based on varied subjects including hobbies, Red Cross, and USO work, and the club's namesake, Ellen H. Richards. Installation of officers and formal initiation held at night in the Home Economics cottage was the most outstanding event of the year.

MEMBERS, first row: O. Summerlin, M. Gornto. Second row: R. Mitchell, M. L. Griffin, E. Vosburgh, M. H. Holloway.

Hi-Y Club

Service to others was the feature of the Hi-Y Club's work this year. Their annual Christmas toy round-up was conducted with great success again this year. The club's records show varied programs: presentation of the school flag to the student body; representatives sent to the Hi-Y convention in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, where the club's president was elected leader of the State Hi-Y Clubs; and frequent socials. At the end of the year, the most outstanding member was presented a jeweled Hi-Y pin.

Latin Club

Adviser:

LOIE C. CHRISTIE

Purpose of the Latin Club: To vivify Latin instruction, to make the ancient Romans and their civilization more real to present-day boys and girls, and to increase interest and appreciation of Roman authors. Their programs this year have included articles, stories, poems, jokes, and songs in Latin. A great deal of interest has already been created although this is a newly organized club. They are hoping that in the near future more students will notice their various activities and thereby become more and more interested in the new organization.

"The Elliott Math Club"

Adviser:

ROSALIE C. ELLIOTT

Under the direction of Mrs. Elliott a new club was organized this year. It was called "The Elliott Math Club." Its purpose was to bring to its members interesting and constructive programs that extend beyond the work of the classroom. Any student who made a "B" or better average on math in the preceding semester was eligible for membership in the club.

Art Club

Adviser: MARY L. MASON

The Art Club carried on its usual activities this year with lectures and exhibits being featured. The purpose of the club was to bring to both art students and to those interested in art a better appreciation of all of its aspects.

Sketching classes and architectural exhibits were the main programs. Many trips to Duke were made by the members to observe special exhibits.

The club also decorated the USO and Nursery School for Christmas.

OFFICERS: A. Loftis, Vice-President; L. Carlton, President; B. Hamilton, Treasurer; H. Hayes, Secretary.

Adviser:

P. G. SYKES

To foster sportsmanship, to keep members alive to the current issues in the world of sports, and to furnish them an opportunity for fellowship with boys of like interests—these were the purposes of the Boys' Monogram Club. The membership, as the name implies, was limited to boys who had won a letter in some competitive sport.

The Durham High football team opened its 1943 season triumphantly, winning from Hillsboro 33-0 and a week later from Burlington 25-0. After losing 38-7 to Raleigh, the traditional Durham rival, Durham came back to win from High Point 12-0 and from Greensboro 13-0. Handicapped by the loss of several players at mid-season, Durham dropped the remaining games of the season, some by very close scores.

Durham had one of the lightest teams ever to come out of the school. The average weight of the line and backfield was not over one hundred fifty pounds. Although the team was composed mostly of inexperienced sophomores, the boys showed a fine spirit no matter what the odds against them were.

While the percentage of games won this year was small, the boys spent much time practicing and gained a great deal of experience, all of which will be a helpful foundation for next year's team.

Turning the tables from last year, the Durham High Bulldogs walloped High Point in a thriller played at Chapel Hill to again take top State Basketball honors, the sixth State Championship in seven years. The hardwood five were sparked by the outstanding playing of Co-Captains Alvitt Loftis and Leroy Carlton, and under the excellent leadership of P. G. Sykes, coach.

This State Championship game climaxed the sixteen straight, undefeated victories for the Bulldogs. There were three returning letter men to help the boys along. This year the Lions Club gave a luncheon in honor of the basketball boys, and letters were awarded at this luncheon.

This was the last game for Co-Captains Leroy Carlton and Alvitt Loftis, as they left for the Navy the following morning. The team was sorry to see the Navy get two of their best players, but wished them "bon voyage," and hoped to see them back next year if possible.

Durham High's track team this year, with only three letter men from last year, had wonderful possibilities of one of the best in the state for '44.

Coach C. R. Baucom, with a crew of green men, did well in preliminary time trials.

Schedules of the year's meets were not available when this book went to press although we knew that the state meet would be held May 13.

Madison Yarbrough, one of the senior letter men last year, was elected captain of the track team, and Henry Bullock of Junior High was elected co-captain.

Though Durham High's tennis team got off to a slow start and had to overcome many handicaps, it still kept up its former reputation by winning many matches with "flying colors." This was all due to the excellent coaching of P. G. Sykes.

This year there were no returning letter men to lead the new boys to victories. Those on the team were Bernice Rigsbee, Whit Cobb, Jimmy Baynes, Winifred House, Tommy Southerland, Willard Muse, Bobby Fairey, and Arnold McNeer.

They played in the State Meet which was held at Winston-Salem, and they also played two games with Burlington.

D. Reed, P. Harris, J. Hogan, T. Reed, J. Agner, E. Green, Coach Hester

Thanks to some ninth graders, Durham High has had a good golf team this year. These ninth graders, David Reed and Edward Greene of E. K. Powe and Bobby Hayes of Central Junior High were a great addition to the team. Others on the team were, Tony Reed, Captain, Jennings Agner, John Hogan, Page Harris, Jimmy Baynes, Buddy Reid, Frank Upchurch, Winston Suitt, Sidney Eberle. Although Coach Hester had only two meets except for the State meet, scheduled when this book went to press, he hoped to add more. He had written to schools in Raleigh, Oxford, Mebane, and others. The team had a very fine coach in Ernest Hester, who has been coaching for the past few years.

Teaching sportsmanship, cooperation, leadership, and building better bodies is the theme that was developed by the G. A. A. this year, and it was carried out very successfully.

Every member tried to become physically fit in order to render effective service to her country when the need should come. The G. A. A. also hoped to establish in each girl good habits and principles of living which throughout her school life and in later years would aid in providing that important foundation so necessary for a happy personal, family, and community life.

Graduates Today— Defenders of America Tomorrow

Whether you don the uniform of our armed forces, or join the ranks of those of us on the home front, the 1944 graduates of Durham High School are confronted with a challenge to give their utmost to uphold the traditions that have given them the privilege of the kind of freedom enjoyed only by Americans.

You—every one of you, are going to accept the challenge—and by your loyalty and energies make your collective and individual contributions to the perpetuation of the American way of life.

We are proud of Durham High School and its graduates. We know what to expect of the Class of 1944, and we wish you God Speed wherever duty calls you.

What a Year to Graduate!

You members of the class of '44 enter a new phase in your life under conditions unlike those which greeted any previous graduates of Durham High School. You immediately face responsibilities, yes, and opportunities, which will tax all your capacities. We believe you will meet these challenges squarely and successfully.
